About this Property

The Little White House

Behind an understated exterior, The Little White House reveals an interior that has been ingeniously reimaged by an architect and interior designer husband-and-wife team, who have spent the last year painstakingly rebuilding and reconfiguring the property from the ground up. Once a family home with an adjoining doctor's surgery, the site has been completely transformed into a beautifully composed contemporary home.

Ground Floor: The entrance hall leads through to a sequence of light-filled living spaces arranged around a central fireplace and wood burner. The dining room and living room are connected in an open, sociable arrangement, complemented by a snug/kitchen with its own fireplace, generous built-in bench seating throughout, and a separate utility room and WC. A store and log store sit discreetly to the rear.

First Floor: Upstairs, Bedroom 1 with its own en-suite sits alongside the principal suite. The incredible master suite is the standout of the home: a master bedroom with dressing area and master en-suite, positioned to capture sea views over Jersey's globally recognised, Ramsar-protected south-east coastline, with views out to Seymour Tower and the French coast beyond. A vaulted roof over the stair and landing area adds volume and light to the first floor, while a striking vaulted, glazed courtyard room forms a dramatic architectural centrepiece linking the two wings of the house.

Throughout, the renovation balances restraint on the outside with richly detailed, thoughtfully composed interiors — the work of designers who clearly understand how a home should be lived in as much as how it should look.

Exterior & Gardens: To the front, the garden opens up to capture sea views over Jersey's south-east coastline. To the rear, a Japanese-style walled garden offers a tranquil, private counterpoint — enclosed and softly planted with mature shrubs, with a low-level boundary wall and gated access. A detached, garage sits within the grounds to the north, bordered by open fields beyond.
